

About SingaporeSailing

SingaporeSailing is the national sports association responsible for the management and organisation of the sport of sailing in Singapore.

The Federation stays rooted to its foundations which are aligned to the three key pillars in Singapore's sports development - Participation, Performance, and Industry Development. These three key pillars are often intertwined, and reflect the holistic nature of sport of sailing. The Federation strives to keep creating synergies that can drive the development of sailing faster and further.

In September 2010, Federation revealed a strategic blueprint called The Next Leg. It seeks to steer the development of sailing in the next decade via 10 Strategic Thrusts. These thrusts guide the Federation's efforts as we continue to forge ahead.

Besides heightening focus on Performance operations, in line with the recommendations put forth by the Olympic Pathway Taskforce in 2011, the Federation also set up a High Participation Committee in 2015 to coordinate efforts in sailing participation islandwide.
